Experience It! Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks

Be prepared to look up, up, up as you walk among the giant trees of these two incredible national parks, which comprise over 1300 square miles of wilderness. Founded in 1890, Sequoia National Park was the first national park established to protect a particular species. Here you'll see the largest tree in the world, the mighty General Sherman – 275 feet high and 36 feet in diameter. It's estimated to be at least 2,300 years old. At Kings Canyon, view the world's second largest sequoia, the towering General Grant, known as "the nation's Christmas tree." Then relax and discover Native American arts and crafts and other souvenirs at the nearby Grant Grove Village.
